Both Sides Claim Win In Tax Bill Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both President Ford and Congress are claiming victory in blocking a Jan. 1 tax increase, but the clear winner is the American taxpayer.

Neither side wanted to be "the grinch that stole Christmas," said Sen. Russell B. Long, who helped draft the compromise proposal.

Without Friday's agreement, temporary tax cuts earlier this year would have ended and a typical worker would have faced a tax increase of up to $6 per week.

The bill provides for a slight expansion of the 1975 tax cuts. The goal is to keep a person's tax withholding rate at the same level in 1976 as in 1975, despite increases in most wages.

The compromise ended an impasse that developed Thursday over the bill to extend the 1975 tax cuts into 1976. President Ford refused to accept the bill first passed by Congress because it did not contain a spending ceiling for fiscal 1977. And the Democrats would not accept Ford's demand for a specific dollar ceiling.

The face-saving compromise between Congress and the White House came when Long and Sen. William V. Roth, R-Del., proposed some vague antispending language. Otherwise, the bill passed Friday that Ford said he would sign is essentially the same as one he vetoed earlier.

The wording had to be innocuous enough to satisfy liberal Democrats, who wanted to protect the congressional budget process, but still sound enough like a spending-cut commitment to win Ford's approval.

The new language says, "Congress is ... determined to continue to control spending." It promised reduced spending "equal to any additional reduction in taxes."

There is nothing binding in the added language.

"Everybody can construe that language any way he wants to and, as far as I'm concerned, I'm happy about that," Long told the Senate.

The bill was approved by the Senate 72 to 7, then with some slight language changes by the House 372 to 10. The Senate passed the final version by voice vote.

Having reached agreement with the White House on the tax bill, Congress went home until Jan. 19.

As a result of the agreement, American workers and businesses would get a six-month extension of the tax cuts that are due to expire on Dec. 31.

Without the extension, an average family of four earning $15,000 a year would have paid $180 more per year on an annual basis. Under the new bill they would actually pay $1,519 on 1976 income, or $60 less than on 1975 earnings.

But it is the poor who would have been hardest hit. A family of four earning $6,000 yearly would have paid $410 more in taxes, including the loss of a $165 tax credit for the working poor provided under the new bill. The measure would give them no tax bill on 1976 income, compared with $35 for this year's income.

A single person earning $10,000 would have paid $151 more next year. Under the bill he will actually pay $1,331, compared with $1,452 for this year's income.

New York Imposes Stiff Taxes

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The New York State legislature imposed a $600 million tax increase on corporations and banks early today, then ended a year-long session that featured one crisis after another.

The approval of the tax bill came shortly before 4 a.m. Senate Majority Leader Warren Anderson had to put down a last-minute revolt by his Republican colleagues.

The tax bill, which Gov. Hugh Carey is expected to sign into law, would have no direct impact on citizens in general.

But it would confront thousands of businesses with unexpected end-of-the-year tax bills. Opponents warned it would drive firms and jobs from the state and force higher consumer prices.

There is also a possibility that the legislature will impose other tax increases — which would affect taxpayers in general — after the 1976 session begins Jan. 7.

Republicans have pledged to resist any further such increases. But without more taxes the tax plan as it stands would require $300 million in budget cuts to balance the budget. Carey is already planning $600 million in cuts and has already begun firing state workers.

Approv l of the corporation and bank tax represented a substantial concession by Anderson and other Republicans to Carey. They had resisted his call for tax hikes for nearly a year.

But Anderson, who said only last week that tax increases were "not a subject for negotiation," was forced to give in because of warnings from bankers that the state's credit — already shaken by New York City's fiscal crisis — could be wrecked if the state did not balance its budget.

When the lawmakers adjourned, they had completed 12 months of struggle with a seemingly endless series of financial crises which engulfed New York City, the city of Yonkers, the state Urban Development Corp., and the state government itself.

Anderson persuaded 10 of his 33 fellow Republicans to support the tax bill, which passed the Senate 31 to 24 with heavy Democratic support.

The bill had cleared the Assembly earlier in the morning, 76 to 59, despite solid Republican opposition.

The legislature's tax package, to produce $600 million over 15 months, will raise the basic income-tax rate on corporations from 9 per cent to 10 per cent, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1975, and put a retroactive 20 per cent surcharge on the corporate franchise tax for the current calendar year.

Income taxes on banks will be raised from the current 8 per cent to 12 per cent retroactive to Jan. 1, 1975, with an additional 30 per cent surcharge for this calendar year and next.

Find Nursing Homes Still In Violation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 500 of Ohio's 948 nursing homes are not in compliance with fire sprinkler system requirements less than two weeks before the compliance deadline, a Cincinnati legislator says.

Rep. Norman A. Murdock, R-21 Cincinnati, said only 277 homes are in full compliance with the regulations as the Jan. 1 deadline approaches.

"It is time that you proceed with license revocation actions against those nursing homes not in compliance," Murdock said in a letter to Dr. John Ackerman, state health director.

"I am not anxious to put on the street hundreds or thousands of nursing home residents living in homes not in compliance, with the law," Murdock said. "But we must make a choice and take a position."

Murdock sponsored the original legislation in 1972 which set a Jan. 1, 1975, deadline for compliance. That was amended to give nursing homes an extra year to meet the standards.

Despite the extra year, Murdock said, too many nursing homes have been slow in meeting the standards.

He said 40 have flatly refused to install the systems, 16 have made only promises, 248 either are getting or have signed contracts, 124 are having the system installed, 13 have the system installed but not operational, 57 have systems with major deficiencies and 163 have systems with minor deficiencies.

"We have waited long enough in Ohio and, in my opinion, have jeopardized the health and safety of the aged (and) infirmed housed in those nursing homes," Murdock said.

Fear Tax Freeze Plan Illegal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democratic legislative leaders say they think Gov. James A. Rhodes' plan to have the Board of Tax Appeals freeze unvoted property taxes is illegal.

House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, and Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, also told a news conference Friday they may try to block it in court if the board approves the plan at a Jan. 22 hearing.

Riffe said the legislature has had under study "for several months" a bill that would make significant changes in property tax procedures including a possible freeze on hikes that now can be implemented as a result of inflationary increases in property values.

"I don't think the board has that kind of authority," said the speaker. In response to a question, he called court action, if the board goes ahead, "a definite possibility."

The speaker contended the only legal way to effect the freeze would be through legislation or a constitutional amendment approved by voters. "We're going to take a look at it," he said.

Rhodes' approach to the problem was "irresponsible," he added. In a joint statement distributed to newsmen, the leaders accused Rhodes of trying to grab headlines, saying they "readily concede (his) ability to do that." Ocasek, an educator himself, said he visits about 150 schools a year and has seen no evidence of bad management.

The Akron lawmaker also scored the Republican governor for his attack earlier this week against school administrators. He denied Rhodes' charge that Ohio's schools are being mismanaged and added "it's a nice cliche to say that our schools are being mismanaged. He's just taking pot shots to get headlines."

The majority party spokesman said Democrats stand ready to block any proposed delay by the State Controlling Board at its meeting Monday of a December state school subsidy. However, there appeared a chance that Budget Director Howard Collier wouldn't have to ask for the delay.

Earlier, Collier said he would ask that the state hold up the $57 million due in basic aid, but release $143 million due to all school districts to implement Ohio's new "equal yield" formula. Ocasek said Democrats would insist that if the state can't pay all of its bills in December, a low revenue month, others besides the schools will have to wait for their money.

However, due to requests of administrators who said they'd rather the delay come in January rather than December, Collier's office was trying to determine if the problem can be put off a month.

Riffe said late Friday he understood Collier had found the temporary solution.

Senate Bans Money Meddling In Angola

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford says a Senatepassed ban on covert U.S. military aid in Angola would "seriously violate the national interest of the United States."

The Senate voted 54 to 22 on Friday to bar use by the Central Intelligence Agency of any monies in a $112.3-billion defense appropriations bill for covert military activities in the south African nation.

Ford, shortly after the vote, asked the Senate to reconsider before adjourning its session for the year. It did not.

Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., said the House, where at least 140 members are on record in opposition to further Angolan aid, will consider the bill next year.

That left the entire fiscal year 1976 Defense Department appropriations bill in limbo for a month. But, like other agencies awaiting final action on their budgets, the Pentagon programs and the CIA activities funded in disguise in the appropriations can continue at current levels under a blanket resolution.

The CIA reportedly has about $5 million in unspent aid committed to Angola, a covert-activity reserve of $3 million and a request pending for $28 million.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said the Senate's ban, if upheld by the House, would have "disastrous" consequences for U.S. foreign policy.

Speaking to reporters at a State Department ceremony, Kissinger said, "The United States cannot escape its responsibilities, even by congressional votes.... We have no great power ambitions in Africa."

Ford told reporters, "The sole issue is the provision of modest amounts of assistance to oppose military intervention by two extra-continental powers, namely the Soviet Union and Cuba."

Kissinger had said before the vote that the reported $25 million in U.S. aid already funneled to Angolan factions was solely a "reaction to what the Soviets did" in sending money from October 1974 on to the Marxist faction and in staging a massive arms buildup in March.

But Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., told his colleagues he did not believe Angola's fate was essential to U.S. security.

Before the pivotal vote on a motion by Sen. John Tunney, D-Calif., to insert the Angolanaid restriction, Mansfield summarized the views voiced by many senators during the debate this week — that secret U.S. involvement in Angola strongly parallels the commitments that led the United States into 11 years of war in Vietnam.

World Government Backers Rap U.S.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The world federalists, inveterate promoters of world government, have given the United States one of the lowest scores in their annual survey of how countries voted on "world order" issues at the U.N. General Assembly.

Sweden piled up the best record and the United States ranked sixth from the bottom of the list of 139 countries scored on their votes in the just-completed assembly.

By world federalist standards, the United States voted worse than all European and all Communist countries except Albania and the new Khmer Rouge regime in Cambodia.

The survey scored countries "right" or "wrong" on 20 assembly resolutions based on the federalists' estimates of whether they "contribute to world order" or "lead away from it," said Donald F. Keys, U.N. representative of the World Association of World Federalists.

Keys, who has conducted the survey for six consecutive years, said an attempt is made to judge the issues from "the best interests of the world at large" rather than individual countries' interests.

Norman Cousins, editor of Saturday Review magazine, is president of the world association, which claims about 60,000 members in 30 countries, including about 15,000 in the United States and Canada. Headquarters is in Amsterdam.

Top-ranked Sweden voted 98 per cent "right." Its only lapse — by federalist standards — was to abstain on a 101 to 15 vote urging Britain, France, West Germany, Japan and Italy to cease collaboration with South Africa and to ask the Security Council to consider sanctions against the whiteruled country. The United States opposed the resolution and this was scored "wrong."

Other high scores included 95 for Australia, New Zealand, Finland, Iceland, Mexico and Swaziland; 92 for Austria, Botswana, Upper Volta and Venezuela; and 90 for Bhutan, Cameroon and Kenya. Ireland scored 88, Japan 72, India 80, Italy 68, France 65, the Soviet Union 60, Israel 55, Britain 52, China 48, the United States 45, Congo 42, Albania 40, Central African Republic 22 and Cambodia 18.

The Maldives, an island nation in the Indian Ocean got the lowest score, five per cent "right," but it was absent for 18 of the 20 votes scored.

Nitrogen Necessary For High Yields

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

Nitrogen fertilizer is very important for high corn yields. Norman Rask, Extension economist at The Ohio State University, pointed this out Wednesday at the Pickaway County Money Management Workshop.

Corn prices have dropped considerably since a year ago. Price estimates for nitrogen fertilizer have ranged across a wide interval.

As a result, what is the "best" fertility program to follow in this spring's corn planting. The decision facing farmers is how much should nitrogen applications be changed as nitrogen and corn prices change.

Observed phenomena indicate that corn production tends to increase rapidly as the first units of nitrogen are applied. But, the increases in corn production become smaller at high fertilizer application rates.

This implies that prices do affect the amount of fertilizer that should be applied. For example, if the price of corn increases, the profit minded farmer would apply more nitrogen since the value of each additional unit of corn produced has increased. If nitrogen prices rise, less nitrogen would be applied.

More nitrogen should be used as long as the value of additional corn produced is greater than the cost of additional nitrogen. For example, say you have been applying 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre. Now you decide to apply an additional 25 pounds of nitrogen to achieve 13 bushels of corn increase per acre. If the price of nitrogen is 30 cents per pound and the price of corn is $2.50 per bushel this extra 20 pounds of nitrogen is profitable, since increased returns are $32.50 (13 x $2.50), while the additional cost is $7.50.

"With the current expected range of corn and nitrogen prices, it will still be profitable to use substantial quantities of nitrogen if it is available," says Rask.

"At recent net corn prices of $2.50 to $2.75 per bushel for corn and 30 to 35 cents per pound for nitrogen, application rates of 221 pounds per acre to 232 pounds per acre would produce the best profits," he adds.

If nitrogen becomes scarce and you can buy only a portion of the nitrogen needed, spread the reduction equally across the acreage. Thus, if you normally apply 200 pounds of nitrogen per acre of corn but receive only three-fourths of the normal amount, the best procedure is to apply 150 pounds of nitrogen per acre to all corn ground.

Keep in mind that corn response to nitrogen will greatly change if fields are poorly drained, if weeds are not controlled, if planting and harvesting are delayed, if plant population isn't adequate, or if other nutrients are at deficiency levels.

4-H...People Helping People

By STEVE BARTELS
County Extension Agent, 4-H

In the past two years the Pickaway County 4-H Motorcycle Club has provided members with club experience available in only two other counties in the state.

Club members use trail bikes to learn safe methods of riding. Dirt bikes make places explorable that otherwise are only possible to explore if you walk. It's great fun to climb hills, splash through mud, ride in shallow creeks, and challenge a friend to see who can make it to the top of a steep grade.

Members learn simple mechanics of their bikes and safety in riding. They are in competition at the fair on a street layout which shows who can handle his bike the best.

We have only one club in the county now - this is in Wayne Township. We would like to set up several other clubs throughout the county. If we had more clubs we could have dirt rallies, competitive hill climbing, trouble shooting contest, and more fun in competition at the fair.

We need advisors. If you are interested in trail riding and would be willing to spend some time with kids, teaching them the right techniques, please let us know.

Also, if you are interested in joining a 4-H motorcycle club, please call 474-7534, or write Pickaway County Extension Office, Box 29, Circleville, Ohio, 43113.

Poinsettias Brighten Christmas

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

Poinsettias usually lead in Christmas plant sales. They are beautiful plants and brighten the home at Christmas.

This year when you receive yours, have you given any thought as to how you will care for it?

Place it where it will get the greatest amount of light but do not expose it to cold air drafts. Near an outside door or a window sill is a poor place for the plant. Also, near heat radiators, furnace registers or fireplaces is undesirable. This doesn't leave many places to put the plant, which is why many people are disappointed in how long their plants last.

An ideal temperature is above 60 degrees but below 70. Since most of our living rooms are warmer than this, you might move the plant to a cooler location at night, then bring it back during the daytime.

Water the poinsettia when the soil becomes dry, but do not over water. Keeping the soil soggy all the time is sure death for the plant.

If you are worried over past reports that poinsettias are toxic to humans, forget it. Based on research at The Ohio State University using rats, which have a similar digestive system to humans, tests have not shown that leaves, bracts or cyathia (true flowers) of the poinsettia are toxic. Although no tests have been made (officially) on humans, it is reasonable to believe the alleged poisonous nature of the plant is very questionable.

Holiday decorations on evergreens in your front lawn express seasonal spirit, but don't let them be hazardous. Be sure all cords, sockets, and bulbs used are weather proof and have the UL approved label for outside use.

Keep connections above levels of water puddles. You'll be safer if you tape connections with electrical tape.

To connect outside lights to power, use a garage or porch light or other protected outdoor outlet. When using outdoor spot or flood lights, shield the bulb behind a wood or metal hood and hide with evergreen boughs. It's safer and more effective.

Always turn lights off when you will be gone from the house for any length of time, especially inside.

Select Right Christmas Tree

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

William F. Cowen, Extension forester at The Ohio State University, says Ohio shoppers have a wide choice of evergreen trees from which to choose. Each variety has its own good points, he explains.

For example, if you prefer long needles, ask for a pine tree. In Ohio, the most popular varieties of pine are Scotch, Norway or red, white and Austrian. Or if you like short-needled trees, choose one of the spruces. These include Norway, blue and white. For needles with an in-between length, the Douglas or balsam firs may suit your taste.

But whatever variety you choose, buy a tree that is freshly cut, well-shaped, and has good color, urges Cowen. You can tell if the tree is freshly cut by running your fingers through the foliage. Then shake the tree. If needles fall, better look around for another one. Brown needles also indicate a tree has begun to dry out. That means the tree won't last long indoors as a Christmas tree.

Prices vary with species, height and quality. A top-quality is one with all sides balanced. If you're economy minded, a lopsided tree may suit your needs, depending on where you plan to put it. If your landscape needs a tree, a live balled and burlapped Christmas tree may serve as a two-in-one bargain. Your nurseryman can tell you how to plant and take care of a live tree.

If you decide to buy a cut tree, saw off the butt and diagonally about 1 inch or more above the original cut, and keep the butt end standing in water while it is indoors. You will need to water it nearly every day.

Keep the tree well supported and away from any heat sources such as fireplaces, radiators or television sets. Before decorating, check your light sets to be sure wires are not frayed and the connections are solid. Avoid overloading electric circuits.

News For Homemakers

Home Economics

Homemakers have requested several bulletins which we just received from the U.S.D.A. They are "Baking for People With Food Allergies," "Pork in Family Meals." "Cheese in Family Meals," and "Breads, Cakes and Pies in Family Meals." These are good-sized booklets which include shopping, storage and preparation information, as well as well-tested recipes. Contact our office (474-7534) if you would like a free copy to study and learn at home.

The homemakers monthly newsletter will be mailed out soon. If you would like to acquaint a friend with our free newsletter, I will be happy to mail a sample copy. It contains homemaking tips, research news, and educational activities offered through the Cooperative Extension Service. Wouldn't that be a nice way to start off the new year to acquaint a new homemaker with homemaking education?

With the sub-freezing winter weather, ice skating will come alive, and perhaps even some ice fishing. Caution family members about how to test the ice thickness. The Ohio Division of Wildlife supplies the following information on safe ice conditions: 2 inches of clear ice will support one man on foot; 3 inches of ice will support a group traveling single file; 7½ inches will support the weight of a car. Slush ice (milky in color) is only half as strong as clear ice. At least 4 inches of clear ice would appear to be a safe thickness before venturing out.

There are many recipe columns, so I don't make a habit of printing recipes, but this one is exceptionally quick, easy and nutritious. It would be a lovely holiday meal for the busy entertainer and was served to me by Jane Downey. It will be our Christmas present to you! The recipe calls for 4 chicken breast split and skin removed, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 cans cream of chicken soup, ½ of a chopped whole green bell pepper, ½ cup Sauterne wine, and 1 large can mushroom pieces. Brown chicken in skillet. Pour off any excess fat, leaving 2 tablespoons fat in skillet. Add the undiluted soup, green pepper, wine and mushrooms. Stir and simmer 5 minutes on low heat. Put chicken in baking dish, pour over sauce. Cover with lid or foil and bake covered for 40 minutes in a 350 degrees oven. Remove foil and bake another 20 minutes.

Note that no seasonings, or salt, are needed. This makes a very flavorful sauce which can be served over rice or buttered noodles. Also, the recipe can be easily increased. For those who do not imbibe, the bit of alcohol cooks out, leaving only a rich, cuisine flavor.

For a last minute gift idea, The Country Kitchen Homemakers Club has compiled a recipe book of members favorite recipes. Contact their President, June Timmons, at 474-3422, or Mary Masters, at 983-2196.

Neighbor Seeks Help

DEAR ABBY: Three months ago, a middle-age woman moved into our apartment building on my floor. She lives alone with her dog. She's always dressed as though she's going to the opera-furs, capes, feathers and a different wig for every day of the week.

She talks to herself and carries a suitcase wherever she goes. I'm sure she's not all there. She's not very friendly. When I say hello to her, she answers curtly and keeps going.

Yesterday she walked down the hall stark naked to empty her trash basket! I couldn't believe my eyes. I phoned the manager immediately, and he said the woman pays her rent on time and doesn't bother anybody so he couldn't do anything about it. He said the police would have to catch her in the act, at which time they could take her down and book her.

Abby, I don't want to cause trouble for the poor woman, but she must have family somewhere who should be notified.

What should I do? My husband says it's none of my business.

CONCERNED NEIGHBOR

DEAR CONCERNED: Your husband is wrong. It IS your business. The woman is obviously disturbed and in need of treatment. Call your local Mental Health Association and report the incident to them. In the meantime, try to make friends with her. Nearly everyone responds to kindness.

DEAR ABBY: How do we shape up our children's table manners (ages 8, 10 and 12) without causing complete disruption at mealtime?

DAD

DEAR DAD: Consistent and gentle reminders plus adult examples should do it.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter who is not yet 15 wants to date a 20-year-old divorced man. I have tried to talk her out of it, but she doesn't listen to me.

She is a good student and has never been in any kind of trouble, but I think she is too young for a man his age. Especially a divorced one.

What do you think? Also, when he calls is it my place to ask him to please not call my daughter anymore?

WORRIED MOM

DEAR MOM: When he calls, let your daughter tell him not to call anymore. I agree he's too old for her, divorced or not.

DEAR ABBY: My husband insists that he is not an alcoholic because he doesn't drink any alcohol-only beer. But he drinks a six-pack every evening and on weekends he can put away a couple of cases. He gets very drunk. At least he acts drunk to me. Yet he tells me that as long as he drinks only beer, he is not an alcoholic.

Is that right?

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: No! There IS alcohol in beer, and anyone who drinks as much beer as you say your husband drinks qualifies as an alocholic in my book!.

A Page Of Opinion

Metric Boost

Centimeter by centimeter, the United States is crawling closer to an official adoption of the metric system. Without dissent the U.S. Senate has approved legislation which would adopt the metric units of weights and measurements as the "predominant but not exclusive" standards.

The ambiguity was intentional. Even if the House approves the legislation — which it did once before — and the President signs it into law, the nation will be committed only to a voluntary conversion within the next 10 years.

A U.S. metric board, consisting of 17 members, would be established to plan, coordinate and conduct public information programs encouraging metric use. The conversion process itself would be left to individual industries and economic bodies. In some industries, that process has been underway for some years.

The non-metric club is becoming more exclusive. Only Liberia, Yemen, Brunei and Burma — and the United States — still belong.

Chew, Chew - Baby

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — I have an Uncle Don who, about 35 years ago, was about 35 years ahead of his time . . .

"If you children want to be healthy and keep from getting fat," said Uncle Don, watching me and a dozen cousins wolfing down a holiday dinner, "you will chew every bite of food 40 times before you swallow it."

We thought he was strange.

"And that goes even for milk. Chew the milk 20 times."

We thought he was putting us on.

"And chew with your mouths closed."

We knew he was serious.

Uncle Don was really an amiable, good-humored gentleman, so we forgave him this momentary aberration and agreed over the mince pie (which took us about 40 minutes to chew to death) that he must have been reading a funny essay by Robert Benchley — and took it seriously.

But this month, psychologists have finished researching the eating styles of Americans, and have come out in favor of the Uncle Don theory: slim people do, indeed, masticate their food and drink with subconscious diligence — while fat people gulp and guzzle.

Donna J. Gaul, W. Edward Craighead and Michael J. Mahoney, psychologists of Pennsylvania State University, recently put to the test what might be called the "big bite theory" — that obese folks chew less than the non-obese.

They spied on 50 fats and 50 leans over a period of several dinners, counting the jaw and Adam's apple movements of each.

The results, announced in "Human Behavior," were these:

On a basis of chews and sips per minute, the obese subjects took more bites, chewed each bite less, and spent less time overall in chewing their food than did the slim persons.

The patterns were the same for both male and female subjects, except that obese men drank faster than the women.

The researchers warned that the tests do not necessarily indicate that those who chew their food more will invariably become slimmer. But they do show a link between eating patterns and overweight, and demonstrate that perhaps you are "both what you eat — and the way you eat it."

This reminded me of a researcher on alcoholism who said that of the 70-million-plus drinkers in America, more than half are worried that they might be alcoholics.

"The way to tell if you are an alcoholic or not," he suggested, "is to limit yourself to two one-ounce drinks a day. If you can consume two daily ounces, and no more, for a month — then you are not an alcoholic."

No one would have to worry, if he followed my Uncle Don's advice.

Try chewing (20 times to the sip) your way through a couple of scotch and sodas . . . and you find that boredom is the Rx for alcoholism.

Here are some other medico-psychiatric tidbits for ailing Americans, collected from the mouths of doctors:

Peanut brittle is literally sound nourishment for auto drivers. The sugar provides a pick up, and the crunch keeps the driver awake. — Dr. Andrew Ivy.

Women find it more difficult to rise in the morning than men do. Of 2,500 Mayo Clinic outpatients, men in all age groups reported getting up feeling more rested than women. — Drs. John Pearson, Wendell Swenson, Howard Rome.

Traffic deaths would be lessened greatly if pedestrians would wear derbies. Many people, hit by cars, suffer less from the car impact than from head wounds as they hit the pavement. If you can keep it on, the derby minimizes this danger. — London doctor, Francis E. Camps.

Signs of senility such as graying hair and wrinkled skin can be the result of old age, but may be the result of something far easier to combat: poorly balanced nutrition. — Dr. Carlton Fredericks.

The two A's, Anger and Ambition, are the chief causes of coronary attacks in young people. In a study of 100 coronary patients under age 40, it was found that emotional stress of occupational origin appeared far more significant than did a positive heredity, a prodigiously high fat diet, obesity, body build, tobacco or exercise. — H. I. Russek and E. I. Zohman.

Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — It sounds like old times. General Motors is forecasting a big year for automobile sales — more than 10.25 million units, including imports — and is proclaiming it as loudly as it can.

It has thus set in motion a string of events that could produce one of the major business-economic stories of 1976.

When GM talks, everyone listens — the glassmakers and the producers of tires and plastics and fabrics and steel, and the consumer too. The nation's biggest manufacturer has enormous clout.

There probably is a good deal of truth in those old adages about what's good for General Motors being good for the country, and as GM goes so goes the nation. Many GM people believe this.

In the old days it used to be said that GM tended to produce the market it forecast. Its power was such, it was said by some marketing authorities, that it could create consumer moods, goals, aspirations — and sales.

Many businessmen were convinced that GM was attempting to do the same thing this year. Some prominent businessman privately observed that Thomas Murphy, GM chairman, might be far out on a limb.

Some automotive analysts had observed also that some suppliers to the auto industry weren't nearly as convinced about the good future foreseen by Murphy and therefore weren't rushing to expand capacity.

Too many memories still linger about the vast inventory overhang that developed in 1974, when manufacturers continued to turn out their goods, only to find them stored in inventories because consumers weren't buying.

Now GM has backed its words with action, making concrete plans to boost production during the early months of 1976. When GM acts, hundreds of producers of glass and tires and plastics are also inclined to act.

The big question: Will the consumer act too?

Murphy's critics maintain he is attempting to live in a world gone by when the consumer could be motivated by GMs optimism. No longer is GM in the driver's seat, they say; the consumer is. The consumer makes his own decisions.

Murphy contends that the consumer's mind can be read, and he offered this analysis in a statement of automotive conditions issued Dec. 11:

"Rising employment and moderating price pressures have established a firm base for our expectation that consumers' real income will continue to rise.

"Consumer confidence has, of course, reacted favorably to these trends. Consumers have savings available and credit is in good supply."

His minimum forecast, therefore, is for 10.25 million units, or more than 1.5 million units more than in 1975. Total car and truck sales he said, should reach 13.25 million units, making 1976 the third highest vehicle sales year on record.

Devices Cut Vandalism

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Listening devices installed in 14 Columbus area public schools have virtually eliminated vandalism since August, school officials say.

Before the installation, damage to equipment, supplies and buildings averaged $10,000 annually. The protective system, installed by a private security firm, costs $6,720 per year.

A school spokesman said the devices are installed near doorways and office areas and are sensitive enough to detect the sound of running water. They are turned on at the end of each school day and during weekends. The devices are monitored in the offices of the security firm and any sound of activity at a school is immediately reported to police and school officials.

The spokesman said similar systems are planned for other buildings in the district.

In 1803, a flag-raising ceremony at New Orleans marked the official transfer of the Louisiana purchase from France to the United States.

In 1820, the state of Missouri began taxing bachelors one dollar a year.

In 1860, South Carolina became the first state to secede from the Union.

In 1922, 14 Republics of Russia formed the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

In 1957, the European Nuclear Energy Agency was inaugurated.

Ten years ago: Nine children and three adults were killed in a fire in a Jewish community center in Yonkers, New York.

Five years ago: A fire swept through the top six floors of the Pioneer International Hotel in Tucson, Arizona, killing 28 persons.

One year ago: The 93rd Congress adjourned after giving approval to a major trade bill which rewrote the nation's basic trade law for the first time in 12 years.

Today's birthdays: Former Senator John Sparkman of Alabama is 75 years old. Actress Irene Dunne is 71.

Thought for today: Civilization, with its governments and establishments,is shaped by the forces of individual desire — aviator Charles Lindbergh, 1902-1974.

Bicentennial footnote: 200 years ago, a British garrison officer wrote that there was no relief from cold in the Revolutionary battle in Quebec. He said: "In such weather, one's sinews are stiff with cold."

Circleville's Ralston Purina plant established a new world's record for safety among grain mills. The plant went a total of 976,239 man hours without a disabling injury.

Circleville residents were to pay about 20 cents less a month for electric power in 1951 when city council passed an ordinance abolishing the surcharge paid by residential and small commerical electric users.

Two city councilmen turned down a proposal submitted that would eliminate the collection of parking nickles until Christmas.

Emily Lutz of Circleville was hired to teach girls' physical education at the Circleville High School. She was a graduate student at Ohio State University.

Government Plans World Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government plans to sponsor a world conference here next March to talk about possible new sources of energy, food and chemicals from plants and their by-products, including human animal wastes.

Described Thursday as a conference on "capturing the sun through bioconversion," the meeting is expected to attract 1,600 representatives from both industrial and less developed countries. It will be held March 10-12.

Sponsors of the meeting include the Agriculture Department, Federal Energy Administration, Environmental Protection Agency, Council on Environmental Quality, National Science Foundation as well as other departments and agencies.

"Do you mind? My feet are killing me!"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The prevention of arterioscerosis now seems to be a reality. The control of cholesterol and the reduction of lipoproteins (complex fatty substances) in the bloodstream are expected to prevent the early formation of arteriosclerosis.

Dr. Danile Steinberg, of the University of California in San Diego, predicts that within the next five years drugs that reduce circulating fat in the bloodstream will dramatically alter the onset and progression of arteriosclerosis.

A new chair has been designed for the handicapped or the convalescent.

A small motor lifts the cushion and raises the occupant to a semi-standing position. For those who are unable to get out of their chair without help, this motorized device should be of extreme value.

The chair is manufactured by the American Stair-Glide Company in Grand View, Missouri.

It is heartening to note that architects are giving greater consideration to the needs of the handicapped in the construction of public buildings, hotels, airports, airplanes and in all areas where their personal serviceability and dignity can be increased.

Legs that might otherwise be removed because of poor circulation are now being salvaged by a variety of operations.

Transplantation of blood vessels has been successfully performed for the past 15 years, with increasingly good results.

Now, a brilliant operation uses a special umbilical vein to replace arteries that are closed and unable to carry vital blood and oxygen to the legs and feet.

Dr. Hersert Dardik and Dr. Irving Dardik, of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York City, have already restored circulation in limbs of patients by this method.

At a recent congress on vascular surgery, the cases that were presented by these doctors were considered to be a major advance in reconstructive vascular operations.

If the preliminary result of this specialized technique fulfills its promise, the umbilical vein substitute may be used for other types of surgery of the blood vessels.

Annual Christmas Dinner Held By Senior Citizens

Members of Pickaway Senior Center held their 4th annual Christmas dinner at the Lutheran Parish House, Thursday. Those who came early enjoyed playing games and visiting, getting acquainted with many new members who were there for the first time.

The tables were decorated with arrangements of tinsel, pine cones and Christmas ornaments, and several large Christmas wreaths and more tinsel brightened the walls of the room. Pastor Zehner offered the prayer before the meal. Turkeys were cooked by Connie Howell, Blanche Kerns and Margaret Ater. Other kitchen duties were supervised by Ethel Lane and Helen Weidman. Special guests were County Commissioners Don Strous and L. Robert Liston, Greg Bigam representing Dick Tootle who is out of town, Geneva Brink, also of the Commissioners office, and the Rev. Mr. Don Makarius, president of the Pickaway Council on Aging.

The regular monthly drawing of names for Senior Citizens of the Month named Nora Noise for that honor. She was presented with a gift by Blanche Kerns, president.

After the meal was over, the group reassembled for the program which featured a Christmas meditation by Rev. Makarius. He reminisced about Christmas in his own childhood, and concluded by reading the classic Christmas Story, "Why The Chimes Rang" from a book which belonged to his mother.

December birthday people who were sung to included Paul Gentzel, Paul Kuhlwein, Clara Shriver, Isabella Badger, Harold Fisher, Bessie Radcliff, Leona Crites, Grace Streitenberger (whose birthday is Christmas day), Merle McAfee, Carrie Ater and Bessie Pierce. New members and some visitors from Chillicothe were also recognized.

The program continued with carol singing, led by Ray Beery playing the piano, and Leona Ater, the accordion. Blanche Kerns read a poem, "Prayer And Potatoes" which had been written many years ago by Mrs. Harper, wife of the Rev. Harper who was pastor of what is now Good Shepherd United Methodist Church.

The final part of the program was a concert by the Meta Larks who introduced themselves musically, and then continued to get many chuckles and laughs with their clever original arrangements of many old time favorites of the holiday season.

Announcements were made of upcoming events, the New Year's Eve party Dec. 31 from 9 to midnight at the Lutheran Parish House. Entertainment will be card playing and other games, with small wrapped prizes to be brought. For refreshments they are to bring a few sandwiches or cookies. A short program will be presented between 11:30 and midnight, and adjournment right after the New Year begins. People of all ages are invited.

The next all-day meeting will be held Jan. 22 and will be a sack lunch arrangement. Blood pressures will be checked at this time. Hearing will be checked at the Feb. 26 meeting.

The regular monthly card party will be held at the L-K banquet room, Dec. 23 at 8 p.m. This is for the public, as well as for senior citizens.

Robert Jones thanked everyone for their contributions to Operation Rudolph. Many dolls had been dressed, and other toys and food as well as cash contributions were on display on tables at the end of the room.

Pickaway Senior Center is located at 430 Lancaster Pike, Circleville. Membership is open to anyone living in the area, who is 55 or over. For more information, call 474-4916 weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Society Honors Retired Teachers

Retired teachers were honored during the recent meeting of Beta Rho Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society in the Parish Hall of St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

The room was decorated with many Christmas symbols made by the hostesses, Miss Amy Miga, Mrs. Charles Towler, Mrs. Mary Alice Greenwood, Mrs. Robert Tacy, Miss Helen Mettler, and Mrs. Claude Sayre. Each member received a calico ornament for the Christmas tea.

Mrs. Robert Scranton conducted a short business meeting. Correspondence was read from Mrs. Claude Sayre, Mrs. Van Meter Hulse and Miss Ann Short. Mrs. Ethel Grooms explained the World Fellowship Fund which is used for scholarships. Members then placed contributions for the fund in a decorated gift box.

Mrs. Ellis Evans and Mrs. Richard Koch presented the program honoring the recent retired teachers. They gave a brief resume of each retiree's history and each honored guest told of a most memorable Christmas. Honored were Mrs. Loren Neff, Mrs. Harry Kern, Mrs. Ben Nothstine, Mrs. George McGhee, Mrs. Joseph Peters, Mrs. Van Meter Hulse, Mrs. Mary Alice Greenwood and Mrs. Dick Tootle.

Other members present were Mrs. O'Dell Baker, Mrs. David Case, Mrs. Leland Dunkel, Mrs. Fred Engle, Mrs. James Hartley, Miss Betty Melton, Mrs. Lawrence Miga, Mrs. Donald Price, Mrs. Charles Schieber, Mrs. James Scott, Mrs. Robert Shaeffer, Miss Ann Short, Mrs. Earl Smith and Miss Patricia Strous.

Chalks Artist Entertains BPW At Christmas Dinner

The Christmas season was celebrated with a dinner and program Tuesday evening by Circleville Business and Professional Women's Club at Pickaway Arms.

Charter members were honored and received as special gifts the centerpieces of decorated mugs holding arrangements of white mums, and Christmas greens.

Guest speaker, Esther Frye of Xenia, was introduced by Freda Collins, program chairman. Mrs. Frye, is an artist who works in many medias. Her presentation was a chalk drawing as she narrated the story of the shepherds being visited by the angels to learn of the birth of Christ.

Mrs. Frye began her chalk drawing with a host of angels in the sky and then with large sweeping motions she made the sky glow with color, drew buildings in the background as they would have appeared almost 2000 years ago, the terrain, and finally the shepherds and sheep in the foreground. With accents the large board appeared in a three dimension creation.

Mrs. Frye expressed the sentiments of many as she said she believed the Old Testament was the most beautiful book in the world. The entire story was told about the coming of the baby Jesus as each part of the picture appeared as a living scene. Upon its completion she changed the lighting as a kaleidoscope highlighting different parts of the picture. Soft Christmas music in the background accompanied the drawing and story holding the rapt attention of the audience.

Louise Hill conducted a brief business session and after each member introduced herself and her guests Christmas carols were sung to the accompaniement of Pat Strous, pianist and gifts were exchanged.

The results of the annual raffle to raise money for scholarships and other sponsorships were: Frances Pritt, first, Wilma Hughes, second and Darlene Pontious, third. Awarded prizes for selling the most tickets were Maxine Hughes, Charlotte Hill and Margaret Remy. It was announced that Gregory Lundberg was winner of the essay contest recently conducted by the club. The award will be made at a later date.

First Natural Gas Tanker Scheduled For Launch Today

The first of six, U.S.-built tankers that one day will bring liquefied natural gas (LNG) from Algeria to this country for use by Columbia Gas customers will be launched today at Avondale Shipyards, near New Orleans.

The giant ship - the El Paso Columbia - is as wide as a football field and more than three times as long. It has the capacity to carry LNG equal to 2.5 billion cubic feet of gas, enough to supply about 14,000 homes for a year.

Calvin Danford, manager for Columbia Gas in the Circleville area, said the tankers are scheduled to begin deliveries of LNG to this country by mid 1977. The six tankers, together with three already launched overseas, are being built for a subsidiary of El Paso Natural Gas Company at a total cost of $900 million.

In 1970 the Columbia Gas System signed a 25-year contract to purchase 300 million cubic feet of gas daily from El Paso, out of one billion cubic feet of gas a day that El Paso will buy from Sonatrach, the government-owned oil and natural gas company in Algeria. Columbia's gas is to be delivered to a receiving and regasification terminal now under construction at Cove Point, Md., on Chesapeake Bay.

The Consolidated Natural Gas System, which is sharing the $300 million cost of the Cove Point terminal and connecting pipeline facilities with Columbia, and the Southern Natural Gas Co. of Georgia have contracted to purchase the remainder of the gas.

Danford explained that LNG is produced by cooling natural gas to minus 260 degrees, at which temperature it becomes a liquid and occupies only 1-600th the space it requires in gaseous form. As a liquid, natural gas can be economically shipped from producing fields abroad to augment U.S. domestic reserves.

The Algerian gas will be liquefied at a plant now being constructed by the Algerian government at a cost of $750 million at Arzew, Algeria.

Danford said that when the LNG deliveries by El Paso begin in 1977, it will be the first time that such gas will be imported as part of the nation's day-to-day energy supply. Previous LNG shipments have been used to meet short-term peak demands.

He explained that while the LNG shipments are being counted on to help ease deficiencies of supply from historic gas sources, they will only partially offset projected shortfalls.

The six tankers now under construction in this country will be operated under the U.S. flag. Avondale, a subsidiary of Ogden Corp., is constructing three of the ships.

Construction of the six U.S. tankers for this project is expected to provide more than 24,000 man years of employment for this nation's shipyards.

The El Paso Columbia will be christened by Virginia Susan Partridge, daughter of John W. Partridge, recently-retired chairman of the board of the Columbia System.

Special Education Students Give Program

Students in Circleville's Special Education classes at South Court Street Elementary School presented a special Christmas program to the rest of the students at the school Friday, in the school's multi-purpose room at 9:30 a.m. and 12:45 p.m.

The program was a culmination of activities and projects begun in English, art, and history classes. Some students researched the origination of customs practiced by early Americans and traced the development of others from origination to the present day, thus becoming more aware of our Bicentennial.

Writing lessons were developed into bulletin board displays, and art classes made pictures to highlight the various topics. The program presented a history of the word Christmas, what colonial Christmas was like, and the development of the use of trees, wreaths, presents (gifts), stockings, and Santa Claus in the celebration of the holiday.

Old Bones Discovered

CLEVELAND (AP) — The bones of several large persons approaching the size of modern man have been found in Ethiopia by Cleveland anthropologist Dr. Carl Johanson.

Johanson, who last year discovered a 3 million-year-old skeleton of a woman, cabled the National Geographic Society recently that his find is "exceptional because of antiquity and presents many possibilities for study of man's ancestors."

He said he found the remains of several adults and several infants. One nearly complete hand, almost modern in size, was capable of grasping and probably also of fine movements, he said.

The anthropologist said the group closely resembles fossils of homo sapiens found in East Rudolf, Olduvai and Laetolil, and is among the oldest definite evidence for the ancestry of modern man.

Johanson's finds will be brought to the Cleveland Museum of Natural History for study.

Metzenbaum Must Pay Expenses

CLEVELAND (AP) — Former Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum, who already has assured some supporters he'll seek Democratic senatorial nomination soon, must try to pay his past campaign debts dollar for dollar, a federal agency says.

The Federal Election Commission in Washington, D.C., told Metzenbaum's committee for his unsuccessful nomination 1974 attempt against now-Sen. John Glenn that settlement for a fraction of a dollar in the $77,135 owed cannot begin so long as he hasn't exhausted other means.

Wednesday night, Metzenbaum told a Portage and Summit County labor group in Kent that he will announce his current candidacy officially between Jan. 15 and Feb. 15. He assured the United Auto Workers that he will run. He already has mounted a campaign to raise funds for that effort.

After the election commission ruling Thursday, Metzenbaum said here it "gives us some breathing space so that we can pay in full or, if that be impossible, make a fair adjustment."

The Cleveland millionaire attorney and his family are prohibited by law from paying more than the $35,000 they already have contributed.

The suburban newspaper company of which he is board chairman, ComCorp, holds a debt of $1,039 for his 1974 campaign, records showed. Metzenbaum said he won't give the firm preference but will assure it is treated fairly.

The election commission has extended indefinitely the deadline for receiving contributions toward that campaign.

Set Testimony In Blast, Fire

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — A Stark County grand jury will begin hearing testimony Monday on the restaurant explosion and fire Nov. 30 that killed three fire fighters.

Retirement Hike For Officers Eyed

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Retiring sheriffs and county police officers would get a 12.5 per cent increase in retirement benefits under a bill assigned to committee Friday in the Indiana Senate.

The bill, introduced by Adam Benjamin, D-Gary, would raise the benefits to 62.5 per cent of the average salary received for the five consecutive best-paid years by an officer. Present benefits are 50 per cent.

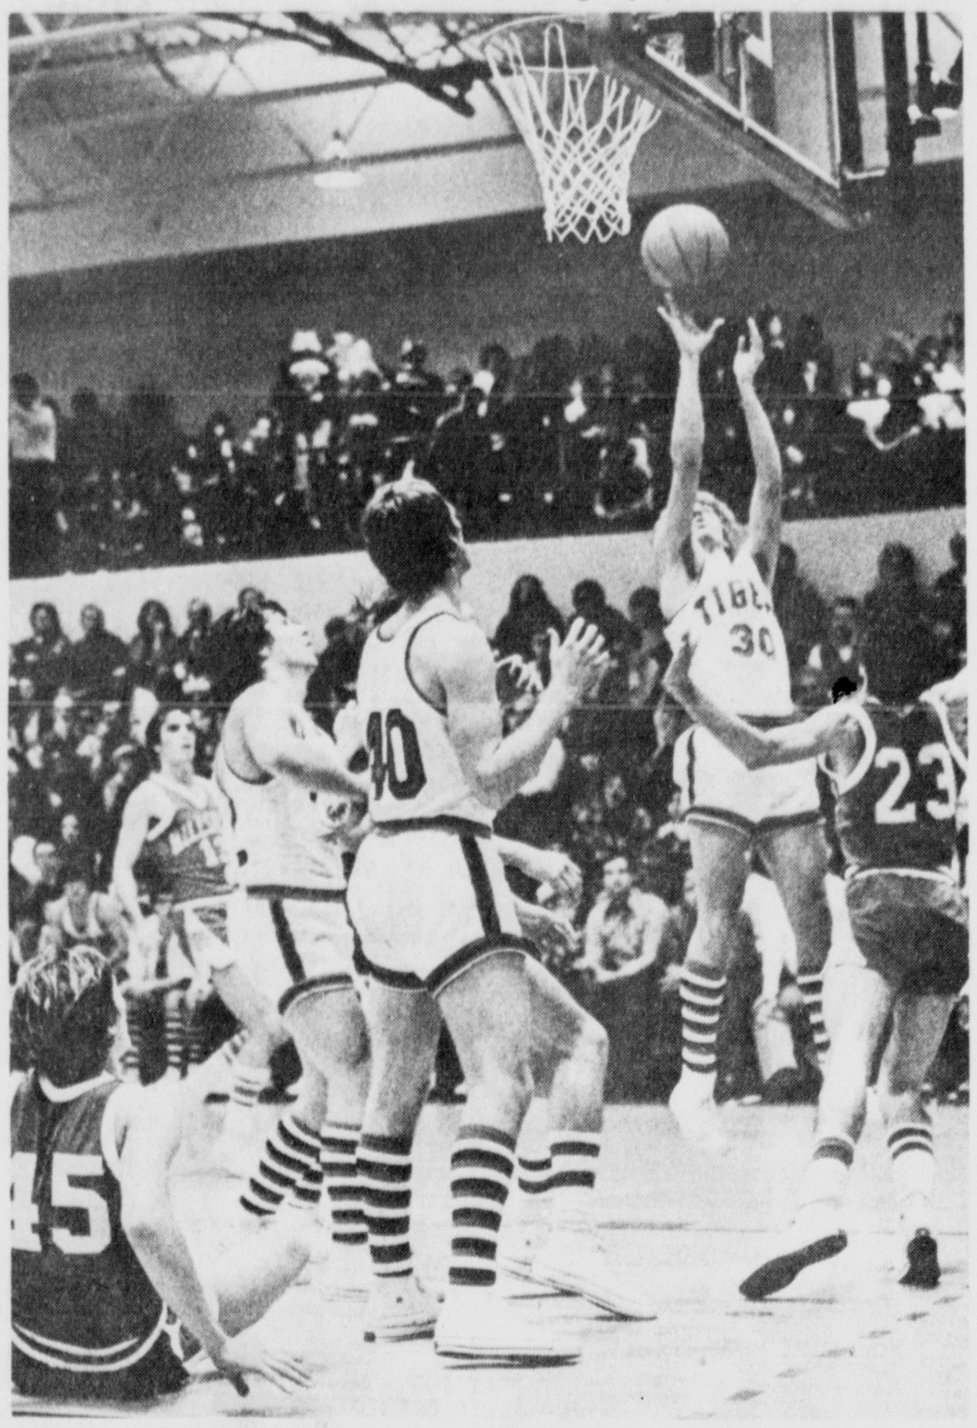
Tigers Top Hillsboro To Hold SCOL Lead

By BILL McGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

With three starters hitting in double figures, Circleville ran its season record to 6-0 with a 60-51 win over visiting Hillsboro in a South Central Ohio League clash Friday night at the high school gym.

The win gives the Tigers a 5-0 mark in league play and sole possession of the league lead.



HOLBROOK SCORES —Rusty Holbrook (30) finds a clear shot from the side in Circleville's 60-51 win over Hillsboro. Biff Bumgarner and George Moore have pretty good position if he misses.

Biff Bumgarner paced the Tiger attack with 19 points, George Moore netted 14, Mike McCoy hit for 13, Rusty Holbrook tallied six, while Brent Mancini, Jeff Williams, Frank Merrill and Warren Yamarick each had two. This was the first time Mancini has seen action this year after undergoing a knee operation following the football season and he appears to be ready, which will be an asset to the Tigers.

Tim Fuller led Hillsboro and all scorers with 24 points, Gary Coffman meshed eight, Rick Seeling and Tyler Woods both had six, Al McKenzie hooped four, Bud Marsh added two and Gary Larimer had one.

Circleville netted 24 of 50 shots from the floor for 48 per cent and converted 12 of 18 fouls for 67 per cent.

Hillsboro hit 18 of 45 from the field for 40 per cent and connected on 15 of 19 from the charity stripe for 79 per cent.

The battle of the boards was about even with Circleville pulling down 29 and Hillsboro grabbing 28. Moore and Bumgarner were the big board men for the Tigers while Coffman and Fuller did the job for the Indians.

Turnovers plagued both squads as Hillsboro committed 24 and Circleville 18. It was a loosely played fourth quarter that built the totals as Circleville had nine turnovers in the period and Hillsboro had eight. The Tigers only committed five miscues in the first half while the Indians were forced to turn the ball over 14 times in the first two periods.

The Tigers never trailed in the ball game and it appeared as if they were going to have everything their way in the first half.

With Bumgarner, McCoy and Moore neeting all the points, the Tigers opened up a 14-4 lead in the first period which ended with the Red and Black leading 16-8.

They widened the gap to 26-8 in the second canto before Hillsboro's Fuller shoved a bucket in from underneath with five minutes left in the frame.

Moore went to the bench at this point and sat out the rest of the quarter. McCoy drew his third foul with 2:10 left in the period and joined Moore on the sidelines.

Fuller and Coffman began to find the range for Hillsboro and cut the gap to 38-26 at halftime.

Circleville's starting five was back in as the second half began and the period was just a matter of trading buckets and the Tigers maintained their 12 point margin at the buzzer, 52-40.

It was a rather poor fourth quarter on the part of both teams as they committed numerous turnovers and the play became rather ragged. Neither team put anything on the scoreboard until Holbrook hit from underneath for Circleville with 5:45 to play and Fuller hit a two pointer for Hillsboro at the 5:30 mark.

The closest the Indians could come in the period was to within seven points with 20 seconds left but Merrill stepped to the foul line and meshed a pair of free throws to run the victory margin to nine.

"We played fairly well in the first half, even though we missed several easy shots, but we failed to play good offense or defense in the second period and got sloppy," Circleville coach Jim Bailey commented. "Tim Fuller played very well for them but Biff Bumgarner did a good job of containing him in the fourth quarter."

The Tigers lost Moore on fouls late in the fourth frame and Hillsboro's Seeling and Fuller also fouled out in the late stages.

Circleville will return to action Dec. 27 when they host the Teays Valley Vikings.

Logan Elm Takes Lead In Mid State

Logan Elm took another giant step toward the Mid State League basketball title Friday, knocking Pickerington down a rung on the conference ladder with a 59-52 victory in Spangler Memorial Gymnasium.

The Braves now stand at 4-0 in the league and 5-1 overall while the tall Picktown Tigers dropped back to second place along with Fairfield Union, both with 3-1 records. Pickerington is 3-3 overall.

It was a close game although the Braves led by as many as 24 points (53-29) late in the third period. Pickerington battled back in the final frame, pulling within five points, (55-50) with a little over a minute to play.

Four pressure foul shots in the final minute, two by Dave Dean and two by Steve Rawlins, preserved the win for the Braves.

The Braves led most of the game. In the first period they cracked Picktown's 1-3-1 zone defense for 22 points and held an eight point margin when the quarter ended. In the second period, they slowed the game down, trying to force Pickerington out of its tight zone and scored only 14 points, but still held a 36-25 edge at halftime.

The third quarter belonged exclusively to the Braves as they held Pickerington to only six points while ripping 17 markers through the nets. But the fourth was nearly disaster for the Braves. Nothing they put in the air could find the bucket and their only field goal came midway in the period by Mike Miller. Meanwhile, Pickerington kept pecking away at the lead, but time ran out on the visitors before they could turn the score around.

"We just held on to the ball too long," coach Asa Bradbury said in retrospect after the game. "We wanted to make them come out of their zone so we could work the ball in under the basket and it worked for three quarters. Then in the fourth quarter they went to a man to man defense and we just weren't aggressive enough.

"But I'm happy with the win. I would have been happy with a one point win. We're a long way off from the league title yet, but the momentum is going our way now and I know we can win it."

The LE coach called the win a good team effort. "We got a lot of good basketball out of a lot of people tonight," he noted.

"Super sub (Steve Rawlins) came off the bench again and helped us with his scoring (17 points). He is also our best ball handler and helped us preserve the win late in the game," Bradbury said.

"Mike Miller played a real good game although he was getting tired toward the last." Miller scored 14 points, had seven rebounds and turned in a good defensive effort.

"We got a real strong game from Chuck Cave tonight," Bradbury noted. Cave scored 10 points and had some key rebounds late in the game.

These were the three braves who scored in double figures. Logan Elm's leading scorer, JEff Reichelderfer, accounted for only four points in the scoring, but this was due mostly to the fact he watched nearly three quarters from the bench. He picked up his third foul when the game was barely four minutes old and went to the bench. He didn't see action again until the third quarter and fouled out in the fourth with 5:14 to play.

However in the time he was in the game Reichelderfer had six rebounds and five assists to play a key role in the tilt.

Starting guards Scott Allen and Mark Skinner scored five points each while reserve forward-center Dave Dean scored four, all at the charitv stripe.

For the visitors, Fred Frank scored 16 points and was the only one in double figures. Glen Ebright tallied eight, Wayne Petrie and Jeff Day seven each, Rob Roesch and Terry Gill six each and Bill Sergakis two. Pickerington has been averaging over 70 points a game.

The Braves made 13 of 18 attempts from the foul line, a 72 per cent average, and 23 of 40 shots from the field, a 57½ per cent accuracy rate. They pulled down 24 rebounds but had 19 turnovers, many of them coming in the fourth quarter.

Pickerington canned 14 of 21 at the foul line a 67 per cent shooting mark and made 19 of 58 field goal attempts, a 32 per cent average. The Tigers had 21 rebounds and 10 turnovers.

The reserve game was a real thriller as the younger Braves picked up their third win in four league games. The LE Jayvees won, 37-36, but a shot by Pickerington at the buzzer hung on the rim for seconds before finally rolling harmlessly off onto the floor.

Pacing the reserve win was Lynn Strehle who came off the bench to make six of six field goal attempts for 12 points. Jerry Scanlan scored 11, Mike Patrick and Rock Huggins four each, Jeff Collins and Tony Crist three each.

The next game for the Braves is at Westfall Dec. 27. A game with Amanda-Clearcreek previously scheduled Jan. 2 has been switched to Jan. 13. On Jan. 6, the Braves host Millersport and on Jan. 9 travel to Bloom Carroll's new gymnasium.

Vikings Drop Metro Tilt To Grandview

A bad first quarter was just too much for Teays Valley to overcome as the Vikings dropped an 86-78 decision to Grandview Friday night in a Metropolitan League battle on the Bobcats' floor.

Grandview jumped out to a 29-10 edge at the end of the first period and the Blue and Gold cagers couldn't make up the deficit despite one of their usual fourth quarter rallies.

The Vikings trailed 47-31 at halftime but cut the gap to eight points, 57-49, at the third period buzzer. They poured 29 points through the nets in the final frame but the Bobcats were up to the challenge and tallied 29 points on their own behalf.

With 2:51 to go in the final period, the Vikings cut the lead to four points but Grandview bounced back and regained the winning margin.

Tim Tosca paced the Vikings with 21 points, Jeff Cauger added 19, Terry Trego tallied 14, Rusty Rathburn netted eight, Mike Johnson hooped six, Dave Schiff and Jeff Voss each netted four and Charles Morrison had two.

The Vikings are now 3-3 for the season and 3-2 in the Metro. They will host Westfall tonight with the reserve game getting underway at 7 p.m.

CHS Reserves Drop Thriller To Indians

Circleville's reserves dropped their first South Central Ohio League contest, after winning four straight, as they fell to the visiting Hillsboro Indians, 42-39, in overtime Friday night on the high school floor.

The score was tied 10-10 at the end of the first period but the Tigers grabbed a narrow 23-21 lead at the half. They led 30-29 at the third period buzzer and were knotted 35 all at the end of regulation play.

The Red and Black cagers trailed 35-33 with 2:30 left in the fourth canto but Mark Albright hit a jumper from the lane with 1:27 left to tie the score. Hillsboro played for the last shot but failed to connect, sending the game into overtime.

Albright and Dave Marshall each had a basket for the Tigers in the overtime but Richard Blair hit two buckets and a foul and Jerry Bach netted a two-pointer to give the Indians the win.

Albright led Circleville with 15 points, Mike Brudzinski added 13, Marshall netted nine and Tim Milstead had two to account for the Tigers points.

Blair paced Hillsboro with 15, Tim Sharkey added nine, Bach had seven, Tom Addington tallied three, Robert Jewett hooped four while Jim Addington and Larry Armstrong each tallied two.

Circleville is now 4-2 for the season and will host Teays Valley Dec. 27.

Rams To Face Potent Steelers

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Some fans are calling it Super Bowl IX½, a preview of the National Football League championship game next Jan. 18 in Miami. Chuck Knox might be calling it a lot worse before the final gun sounds.

Knox is the head coach of the Los Angeles Rams, a collection of walking wounded that faces the defending champion Pittsburgh Steelers tonight in Los Angeles. He doesn't have a roster. He has a hospital attendance chart.

And he's got to send a squad filled out with second-liners against a club he calls "awesome, the hottest team in football right now. If the Steelers have a weakness, I haven't seen it."

In today's other games it was Minnesota at Buffalo and Denver at Miami. On Sunday it's New England at Baltimore, San Diego at Cincinnati, St. Louis at Detroit, Dallas at the New York Jets, Kansas City at Oakland, Philadelphia at Washington, Atlanta at Green Bay, Cleveland at Houston, Chicago at New Orleans and the New York Giants at San Francisco.

Rams' quarterback James Harris figures to be on the bench, nursing his sore shoulder, while Ron Jaworski calls the signals. Running back Lawrence McCutcheon will be the only front-liner in the Rams' backfield. With Jim Bertelsen gone for the year due to knee surgery, Rob Scribner will be the other starting back. And with John Cappelletti sidelined by mononucleosis, Cullen Bryant and Rod Phillips are the reserve runners. If things really get tough, Scribner might end up doing the quarterbacking.

Coach Chuck Noll of the Steelers says he'll start all his healthy players. That's just about everyone, maybe even including defensive tackle Joe Greene. But he figures to go with reserve quarterbacks Terry Hanratty and Joe Gilliam in the second half in place of Terry Bradshaw.

As with Los Angeles, a victory by Minnesota would assure the Vikings of a home-field playoff opener. Of equal note, though, is the number of records that could tumble in the game.

Quarterback Fran Tarkenton is within reach of some NFL marks. He needs one more touchdown pass to match John Unitas' career total of 290. And with every pass he completes, he extends his own NFL record of 2,906 career completions.

Running back Chuck Foreman, leading the National Conference with 108 points and 63 pass receptions, needs only 15 yards on the ground to reach the 1,000-yard rushing mark for the season.

O.J. Simpson of the Bills has rushed for 1,760 yards this season, leaving him 243 short of his NFL record of 2,003 set in 1973. It's unlikely he'll gain that much—but 104 yards would give him the second-best single-season rushing mark, moving him ahead of Jim Brown's 1,863 yards in 1963. Simpson, is also one touchdown shy of Gale Sayers' mark of 22.

The Dolphins were in a "must win" game to stay alive in the playoff chase. But a victory has to be combined to losses by either Baltimore or Cincinnati for Miami to make it past Sunday.

Aces Lose Mid State Fray To Bulldogs

A second half rally by Amanda-Clearcreek fell a little short as the Aces were defeated by Bloom-Carroll, 50-47, in a Mid State encounter Friday night on the Bulldogs' court.

The Aces trailed 13-11 at the end of the first quarter and fell behind 27-17 at halftime. But they battled back to cut the margin to 39-35 at the conclusion of the third canto but just couldn't quite make up the deficit in the final period.

Mike Nye, a sophomore, turned in a fine game for the Aces as he led all scorers with 20 points and was the leading rebounder with 10. Jim Smith chipped in with 12 points, Jeff Bethel tallied six, Cloyce Hartley added four, Russ Foster connected for three and Jim Destadio had two.

Dave Cotner tallied 16 points to lead Bloom-Carroll, Don Matheney added 14, Rich Peirano netted 13, Marty Wyne tallied three while Greg Black and Behrens each had two.

The Aces shot 38 per cent from the floor and the Bulldogs connected on 44 per cent of their shots from the field.

Amanda-Clearcreek converted three of seven at the foul line for 43 per cent while Bloom Carroll meshed six of 12 charity tosses for 50 per cent.

The Bulldogs had 39 rebounds while the Aces grabbed 37. Black and Matheney both had nine for Bloom-Carroll.

Amanda-Clearcreek is now 2-4 for the season and 1-3 in league play and will be at Fisher Catholic Jan. 6.

Tangerine Bowl Today

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — South Carolina will pit its flamboyant, wide-open offense against the conservative running attack of Miami of Ohio in the Tangerine Bowl today.

Although his team is a fourpoint favorite, Miami Coach Dick Crum says he expects his defense to have a tough afternoon.

"We never see any veers in the Midwest, but South Carolina has played against a lot of I formations," he said.

However, South Carolina Coach Jim Carlen was quick to disagree.

"Let me tell you something about Miami," he said. "They can play against anything and their record shows it. Personnel wins games, not formations. And they've got the personnel on defense, a category we haven't done well in all year."

Miami, the Mid-American Conference champion, held its opponents to 213.9 yards a game while rolling up a 341.5-yard average during its 10-1 season.

Nets Defeat Spurs, 113-97

By The Associated Press

While most of the New York Nets were playing themselves into near-exhaustion this week, Swen Nater remained almost invisible, which isn't easy when you stand 6-foot-11 and weigh 240 pounds.

Nater saw only 36 minutes of action, scoring two points and pulling down 11 rebounds, in the three previous games as the Nets' weary way took them from the friendly confines of the Nassau Coliseum on Tuesday night to Denver on Wednesday night and to Virginia on Thursday night, arriving only 1½ hours before game time.

So Nater was well-rested when the club returned home Friday night. And the big center came through with season highs of 27 points and 27 rebounds in 37 minutes as the Nets defeated the San Antonio Spurs 113-97.

Elsewhere in the American Basketball Association, Kentucky trounced Indiana 131-116 and St. Louis crushed Virginia 139-107.

Earl Anthony Posts Top Bowling Average

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—For the third straight year, Earl Anthony has posted the highest average in the Professional Bowler Association.

Anthony, Tacoma, Wash., was awarded the George Young Memorial Award after recording a 219.060 average after 30 tournaments. His 1974 average was 219.394.

Second baseman Dave Cash of the Philadelphia Phillies led National Leaguers in 1975 with 312 hits, three more than Pete Rose of Cincinnati and Steve Garvey of Los Angeles.

Wilmington Wins Basketball Game 15-13

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—Wilmington scored only one point in the second half but survived Uniotо's game-long stall for a 15-13 Class AAA high school basketball victory Friday night.

There were only five field goals attempted and three points scored in the second half.

Uniotо, 0-6, trailed 14-11 at halftime.

Columbus Owls Upset Dayton Gems, 8-3

By The Associated Press

The cellar-dwelling Columbus Owls upset the first-place Dayton Gems 8-3 in an International Hockey League South Division battle at Columbus Friday.

Dayton remains in first place in the South with a 17-10-2 record.

Dave Lopes of the Los Angeles Dodgers paced the National League in stolen bases in 1975 with 77, nine more than Joe Morgan of Cincinnati and 21 more than Lou Brock of St. Louis.

Wildcats Edge Georgia Tech, 66-64

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The Kentucky Wildcats took Coach Joe Hall on a rollercoaster ride and he may have a hard time recovering.

"The last 25 minutes of the game was just beyond comprehension," Hall said Friday night after watching his team's highly erratic performance in the first round of the Kentucky Invitational Basketball Tournament at Lexington, Ky.

The 20th-ranked Wildcats had a runaway 21-point lead over Georgia Tech in the first half, then almost lost it in the end, finally pulling out a 66-64 thriller.

"The emotional instability of the team was evident," noted Hall. "When we saw it was going to be easy, we let up. And when we let up, we are not a good ballclub.

"We can beat Oregon State (tonight) if we play like we did earlier (against Georgia Tech). But we'll get beat by 40 if we play like we did the rest of the way."

The exciting game was the nightcap of a first-round doubleheader. Oregon State whipped 19th-ranked Arizona State 87-83 to gain tonight's finals against the Wildcats.

The Kentucky Invitational was one of a basketful of holiday season tournaments around the country.

Top-ranked Indiana walloped Georgia 93-56 and Virginia Tech crushed Oregon 87-60 in the opening round of the Indiana Classic at Bloomington; No. 8 Alabama beat Pittsburgh 62-53 and Florida State took South Florida 78-71 in the Big Sun Tournament at St. Petersburg, Fla.; No. 11 Tennessee breezed past Army 99-69 and Clemson outscored Middle Tennessee State 82-46 in the Volunteer Classic at Knoxville; No. 14 San Francisco beat Oral Roberts 98-76 and Providence defeated Santa Clara 73-66 in the Cable Car Classic at San Francisco and No. 17 Auburn lost to SMU 87-85 in overtime and Texas-El Paso beat Tulsa 77-67 in the Sun Bowl Tournament at El Paso.

Elsewhere, Michigan crushed Southern Illinois 74-49 and Miami, Ohio, tripped Princeton 66-61 in the Michigan Invitational at Ann Arbor; Mississippi State nudged Dayton 56-54 and Long Beach State turned back Washington State 80-74 in the Dayton Classic at Dayton, Ohio; Kansas defeated Yale 63-54 and LaSalle nudged Texas A&M 59-57 in the Jayhawk Classic at Lawrence, Kan.; Nebraska whipped the University of Pacific 85-59 and New Mexico State stopped Denver 104-100 in the Roadrunner Invitational at Las Cruces, N.M., and Arkansas State trimmed Hardin-Simmons 88-73 and Northeast Louisiana defeated South Alabama 84-81 in the Indian Holiday Classic at Jonesboro, Ark.

Bulls Bomb L.S. Lakers

By The Associated Press

The lowly Chicago Bulls are one big happy family again after getting their enforcer back.

"We knew today was going to be a big day," Coach Dick Motta said after they gunned down the Los Angeles Lakers 104-91 Friday night. "It was our target day to get going. The return of Jerry Sloan was like welcoming back a member of the family."

Sloan, Chicago's star guard, had missed 13 games with a leg injury. He scored only six points but provided the inspirational lift while six others, led by John Laskowski's 19 points, tallied in double figures. The Bulls, who hadn't won at home since Nov. 1 and had dropped 17 of their last 19 outings, snapped a six-game National Basketball Association losing streak.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Boston turned back New York 120-112, Philadelphia nipped Detroit 115-114 in overtime, Buffalo trounced Washington 104-88, Houston downed Atlanta 113-107, Cleveland shaded Phoenix 128-124 in double overtime and Seattle whipped New Orleans 113-102.

Bengals Warned Of Tough Contest

CINCINNATI (AP)—Sizing up the San Diego Chargers "as big as any team we've faced," Paul Brown has warned his playoff-minded Cincinnati Bengals they can't afford to take their 2-11 opponent lightly in Sunday's National Football League finale.

"They've got momentum. I just hope my players realize it. If we don't work at it, we'll get licked," said the 67-year-old "dean" of National Football League coaches.

Cincinnati, 10-3, would advance to next week's NFL playoffs against the Oakland Raiders if they get past the Chargers.

San Diego, which got off to an 0-9 start, has won its last two games against the Kansas City Chiefs and the New York Jets.

But the Chargers will be without starting quarterback Dan Fouts, who suffered a concussion in last week's 24-16 victory over the Jets. Fouts, who engineered last year's upset of Cincinnati, will be replaced by Jesse Freitas.

Bengals quarterback Ken Anderson and wide receiver Isaac Curtis are poised to set career marks. Anderson, who is averaging 248 aerial yards per game, is bidding to become the NFL's first repeat passing champion in over a decade. He is presently in third in the ratings, trailing by mere percentage points.

He needs 47 yards to go over the 3,000-yard mark in passing for the first time. Curtis, the swift deep threat, has equaled his pro high of 44 catches and needs only one more yard to crack Eric Crabtree's club mark of 855 yards by a reciever.

The Bengals hope to shrug off their worst loss in several seasons, a 35-14 pounding by Pittsburgh.

Dayton Flyers Lose Tournament Opener

By The Associated Press

Capital, a perennial winner in its four-year tournament history, gets a chance to continue the winning tradition, but Dayton and Ohio Northern will be watching from the sidelines as someone else carries home the trophy.

The Flyers lost their tournament opener to Mississippi State 56-54 Friday night when a stalling strategy backfired. The ball went out of bounds with three seconds remaining. That's all the time Mississippi State's Gary Hooker needed for a jump shot from the top of the key to break the 54-54 tie and clinch a winning berth in tonight's finals.

"I knew when it left his (Hooker's) hands it was going in," said Mississippi State Coach Kermit Davis. "I just sensed it."

Dayton Coach Don Donoher called the game "an uphill battle" for Mississippi State. "They deserve all the credit. Hooker made a good adjustment to get the rebounds pace and took a good shot. They deserved to win."

In the first game Friday, Dale Dillon and Larry Hudson combined for 47 points to lead Long Beach State 80-74 over Washington State.

Mississippi State meets Long Beach tonight for the championship while Dayton entertains Washington State in the consolation.

In other tournament action, host Capital meets West Virginia State tonight in the championship round of the Capital City Classic. West Virginia downed Hanover College 74-61 and Capital defeated Buena Vista 66-59 to earn the winning berths. Hanover and Buena Vista will meet in the consolation round. Capital has won the last four of its tournaments.

In Ann Arbor, Archie Aldridge contributed 15 points to Miami of Ohio's 66-61 upset over Princeton in the opening game of the Michigan Invitational basketball tournament.

Miami, now 3-2, will take on Michigan who crushed Southern Illinois 74-49.

Jim Abrams scored 14 points including two free throws with five seconds to go to give Akron University a 57-54 victory over St. Francis in Youngstown Friday in the first game of the Youngstown State Classic Tournament.

Akron will meet Youngstown State tonight. The hosts downed Southern Illinois-Edwardsville 79-62 to earn the winning berth. St. Francis and Southern Illinois-Edwardsville will decide who goes home with the consolation prize.

Three Adults Appear In Juvenile Court

Three adults headed the list of those appearing this past week in juvenile court. Also appearing were three traffic offenders and ten delinquent youths.

Lloyd Russell Windon, Columbus, forfeited a $50 bond during the week on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Selling a firearm to a minor brought a $10 fine to Steve A. Newman, 378 Walnut St. Judge Guy G. Cline suspended $50 of the fine and also suspended a 60-day jail sentence. He placed Newman on probation for two years.

a 15-year-old Ashville girl and a 16-year-old Akron boy appeared on charges of possession of marijuana. Judge Cline suspended sentences to the Ohio Youth Commission in both cases and placed the two youngsters on probation for three years.

Also during the week, the court transferred two traffic cases to Franklin County, one to Ross County and one to Fairfield County. Consent was granted to a 15-year-old girl to marry.

William Fitch, 150 W. Main St., was sentenced on the charge of contributing to the unruliness of a minor. Judge Cline suspended $150 of a $200 fine and placed Fitch on probation for two years. He also ordered the defendant not to associate with the juvenile involved.

Reckless operation charges were heard against Charles Wamsley, 17, 609 Washington St. The court ordered him to pay the court costs and to attend traffic school. Wamsley's license was also suspended for 60 days.

A 14-year-old Mt. Sterling girl was placed in the temporary care of the Ohio Youth Commission for running away. The court then placed a 17-year-old Ashville boy in the permanent custody of the Youth Commission for petit theft.

School truancy charges brought two years probation to a 17-year-old Circleville boy. Another 17-year-old, an Ashville boy, appeared on a charge of disorderly conduct. The court suspended $15 of a $25 fine and placed the youth on probation for six months.

Raymond A. Smith, 17, Route 2, Laurelville, was fined $50 for driving without a valid operator's license. The court suspended $25 of the fine and suspended Smith's license for six months after he has received it.

A 14-year-old Circleville girl also appeared on charges of school truancy and violation of probation. She received a suspended sentence to the Youth Commission and was placed in the temporary care of her aunt. Her probation was continued.

One year probation was assigned to a 13-year-old Stoutsville boy found guilty of petit theft. He was also ordered to pay restitution and the court costs.

Completing the court's docket for the week was a 17-year-old Circleville boy charged with school truancy. He was placed on probation for a period of two years.

During the month of November, the juvenile court filed 42 new cases and terminated 62 old cases. There were 79 cases pending at the beginning of the month and 79 pending on the last day.

Of the cases terminated, 18 were delinquency, seven unruly, eight dependent-neglected children, 18 traffic, 10 adult and one consent to marry. The court placed seven boys and three girls on probation during the month.

Lebanese Governor Shot Dead

BEIRUT, Lebannon (AP) — Unknown gunmen assassinated the Moslem governor of North Lebanon today, and the government expressed fears the slaying was aimed at rekindling Lebanon's civil war.

A government statement said 53-year-old Sheik Kassem Imad died in a hail of machine gun fire as he was leaving his home in Tripoli. His wife was seriously wounded.

There was no immediate indication who the assassins were.

Interior Minister Camille Chamoun said, "I am afraid his assassination confirms classified information I have been receiving the last two days that a wave of political assassinations will be staged to escalate the civil war," now in its eighth month.

Chamoun did not elaborate. Nor did the government statement, which said Imad was murdered at 10 a.m.

Imad is a Druze, a Moslem sect whose leader, Kamal Junblatt, is the titular chief of leftist political parties in Lebanon.

News of the assassination followed a Palestinian guerrilla vow to prevent partition of Lebanon into sectarian states.

"The guerrilla movement wants no military victory or defeat for itself or any one else in Lebanon," said Salah Khalaf, Yasir Arafat's second in command in Fatah, the largest guerrilla group.

Sewage Plant Uses Carbon

CLEVELAND (AP)—A sewage treatment plant opened Friday that Cuyahoga County officials say is the first of its kind in full-scale operation.

The $4.5-millon plant in suburban Rocky River uses granular-activated carbon instead of bacteria, which is used in conventional plants, county commissioners said. The facility has a capacity to treat 10 million gallons of waste water daily—and double that at peak flow.

The plant is designed to remove 90 per cent of all suspended solids from wastes. The treated water then is passed through columns 25-feet high and 16-feet high in diameter that contain carbon grains. The cleansed water is dischargeed into Lake Erie.

The commissioners said the carbon granules have a surface area which allows them to absorb many times their weight. The granules also can be reactivated and used again.

In addition, commissioners said, the new system fits within the available space so there was no need to take over residential space for sludge pits.
